CARDS vs GRAVITY PRO

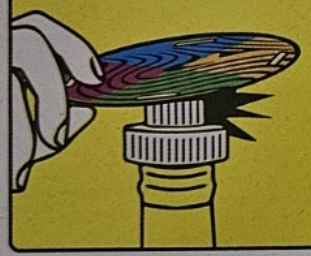
AIM

Don't be the one to topple over the tower of cards.

SETUP

Push the stopper into any bottle

Attach the magnetic disc to the stopper.



We recommend using a qlass bottle. Plastic bottles work, but you might need to add some water to weigh it down.

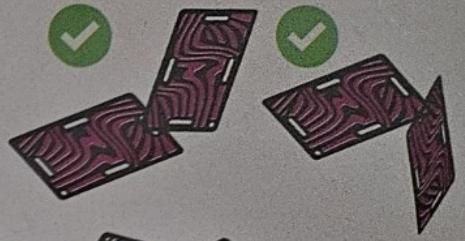
Shuffle the cards and deal an equal number to each player (or as equal as possible). There are Color Cards, Wild Cards, the Gravity-Bender (which is lighter and bendier so easier to play, but harder to play onto), and the Gravity-Buster (which is heavier and harder to play).

PLAY

The player left of the dealer takes the top card from their deck and slots it into the disc. The colors must match.

IMPORTANT: The Gravity-Bender and Gravity-Buster cards cannot be slotted directly into the disc, only into another card. If the first player's first card is one of these, they should put it to the bottom of their deck.

Moving clockwise around the table, each player takes the top card from their deck and tries to balance it on a card (or the disc) of the matching color.



You can balance your card by inserting it into one of the slots, or by dangling it off a corner.

Wild Cards, the Gravity-Bender, and the Gravity-Buster can be slotted into a card of any color Once balanced they become the color of the card they're touching.

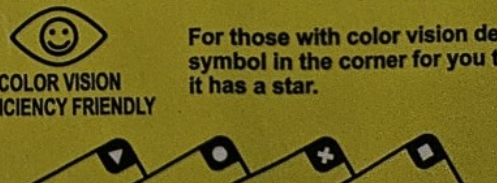
IMPORTANT: When placing a card, it can only touch the card it has been slotted into. If it's resting on another card (or the disc), it's an illegal move.

If any cards fall on your turn, you must add them to the bottom of your deck and your turn is over, If you knock over the entire tower, it's game over-collect up all the cards and deal them out to start a new game. If you manage to balance all the cards in your deck, then you're out and safe... for now.

If every card in the game gets balanced without the tower toppling, the last player must now choose a card for the next player in line to reposition. They can move it anywhere - colors don't need to match anymore.

If a player accidentally knocks down one or more cards when repositioning, they must rebalance them all before they can pick a card for the next player to reposition.

Play continues like this until someone topples the whole tower.



COLOR VISION DEFICIENCY FRIENDLY

For those with color vision deficiency, each card has its own symbol in the corner for you to match up. If it's a Wild Card, it has a star.
